Important Auction Sale of Estancia Remedios
Mr. THOMAS GOWLAND will Sell by Public Auction, without fail, on THURSDAY, 26th December, at twelve o'clock precisely, and well-known Estancia, situated on the River Arrecifes, about six leagues from the City.
The ground consists of nearly two square leagues, all fenced in with wire and ditch, and is divided into six lots each having brick houses and other accessories.
Plans of the Estancia can be had at the Auctioneer's, Calle Defensa, No. 114, also inventories explaining each lot, its superficie, buildings, galpones, corrales, pajonales, tuscs, fences and ditches, alfalfares, &c.
Such a brilliant opportunity seldom occurs for a good investment. The proximity of the Estancia to the City and its situation on a permanent river give it a value which must augment with the increasing prosperity of the country.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 22. 1863.

THE LONG VACATION.

While Senators and Deputies are hurrying to their distant and obscure homes in the Pampas of La Plata, throwing aside all recollections of parliamentary harangues and animated discussions, to think of family ties so long interrupted and friends eagerly waiting to welcome their return—while the athletes of Congress are bracing their limbs for a wearisome land-voyage to the tropical gardens of Tucuman, the wilds of San Luis, the corn fields of Cordoba, the fastnesses of San Juan, or the regions overshadowed by the giant Cordillera—it may be apropos to cast a wide and comprehensive glance at the provinces of the Interior, and their prospects during the Long Vacation.

The Congress of 1863 has really deserved well of the country, and all things considered, the late session could not have passed off better; all parties retiring with the conviction that they had done something towards national representation, and having on good terms with each other. Perhaps this is the very reason why the editorial salamanders of Buenos Ayres have suffered the Chambers to dissolve, without a cordial recognition and kind adieu. It is true the members attempted to get away several weeks ago, leaving the most important matters undecided, but Pres. Mitre's calculative of 'Bills Wanted' saved the character of the republic, and this being fulfilled, it is but fair the legislators should have our full permission to go home for the midsummer holidays.

The hope may reasonably be entertained that each deputy will take with him an assortment of fraternity, patriotism, progress, and such other articles as are calculated to further the march of the National Government and of the whole republic. Let him tell his townsmen how miserably mean appears the ambition of a Chacho, a Posse, or an O'Gill when viewed through the prism of civilization. Let him speak of the splendid advances made in Buenos Ayres, within a few years, by a foreign community who have no politics, no Chambers, no public men, no incipient Solons, no fiery patriots

The provincial deputy may teach principles of order, may instil a thirst for advancement, may uphold laudable examples, to the simple minded inhabitants of the interior. There is however a higher mission which the country demands of him, and in which the long vacation should mostly be spent. It is studying the wants, capabilities and resources of his province. Besides laboring zealously for the good of the Argentine republic, he must remember, that his own province claims an especial care at his hands.

In the British parliament, where every interest and locality of England and Scotland is fairly represented, we find the national destinies no less faithfully watched while each member dwells with paternal solicitude on the requirement of his town or portion of country.

During the late session of our Congress, the deputies confined their attention to objects of national import, and we cannot remember an instance in which the silver-mines of San Juan, passes of the Andes, cotton of Catamarca, overland trade of Salta, public lands of Mendoza, salt-fields of Patagonia, or other purely provincial interests were brought before the Chambers. If we would firmly knit the various provinces into a solid band, we must convince them that the National Assembly carefully studies and protects the welfare of each.

Five months devoted to these considerations will suffice to furnish the deputies with the knowledge, anxious regard, and sagacities, necessary for them to watch and become champions of their provincial interests. In this manner, the next meeting of Congress would find an assembly of legislators not merely following the routine of subjects submitted by Government, not passively whiling away the months of session by listening and voting, but standing up to plead the cause of their townsmen; and this is, we suggest, the best way to spend the long vacation.

TRACTION ENGINES.

Although we were at first little disposed to admit the feasibility of this new method of steam conveyance, the experiments lately reported incline us much in its favor, and without a feeling of mortification we plead guilty to a premature judgment. The simple fact that these locomotives are employed in the interior of Australia to carry down the precious metals to the coast, is a striking proof that we may also use them here. The two countries are so similar, flat, and devoid of good roads, with frequent creeks or 'arroyos,' that whatever is suited to t o one must be so to t other.

The Minister of the Interior has just given a concession to Messrs. Beare, Dodgion, & Harrison for the following lines: Buenos Ayres to Rosario to Cordoba, Cordoba to Santiago, Santiago to Tucuman, Tucuman to Salta, Cordoba to Catamarca, Cordoba to San Luis, S. Luis to Mendoza, Concordia to Restauracion. The Company shall have at least one of these lines open within 18 months from this date, and all and lines within the term of three years. In case, however, the lines are not found inconvenient, the company with permission of Government may alter the same. The Company shall acquire the highways, bridges, and bridges, &c., which previously submitting the plans to Government, but it shall in no case charge tolls.

The capital of the Company shall be $12,000,000 dollar, and the Presidency of the Company in this republic The concession shall guarantee, for 40 years, an interest of 7 per cent. on all sums expended, and the interest exceeds any time exceed that ratio. Government shall be reimbursed anyadvances, out of the actual receipts.

The Nat. Government shall be at liberty to suppress any unprofitable lines, paying the Co. whatever actual capital is expended on the same, and the bridges, in which case that part of the guarantee ceases. On expiration of the concession all the roads and bridges shall become national property without any remuneration to the Co. The materials and the establishments of the Co. shall be free of import for said 40 years; but Government reserves the right of interfering in the tariff. The contract shall be void unless the following expeditions are made successful; the locomotive shall travel 10 leagues, with a train of 10 tons, at a velocity of at least 8 miles per hour.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

On Friday one of the greatest rural auctions ever known in Buenos Ayres took place at Mr. Billinghurst's, in Calle Potosi. We inspected these animals, and must say that they are the largest and heaviest wooled rams we have ever seen.

We regret to say that we hear the locusts and Spanish fly have made their appearance in many parts of the campo, destroying the crops, trees, and in many parts of the years; the locusts are more numerous as the 'Hielo Viejo' But wherever they have visited they have caused serious damage.

Our French colleague, 'Le Progres,' treats its readers to a few spicy observations on the present state of politics. It states that the political world is now divided into two great parties—the raw and the cooked. The raw or (cru los) are those who oppose the Nationality Government, and have for their organ the 'Tribuna' and 'Nacional,' and their flag——all the world knows the flag of Mesrs. Obligado, Alsina, Montes, de Oca, and consorts. The 'cooked' cocidos, are those who are tired out of these endless squabbles, which lead to no possible good result. Which will triumph—the 'raw or the cooked' is a question which will be decided next April.

The band plays every evening in the Plaza Victoria, at eight o'clock, and we are happy to see fashionables begin to be seen strolling around the Pyramid.

The great dispute, about the continued existence of Montevideo and Patagonian, seems to be drawing to a close. Patagonian having evidently got one of the thistles in his throat, and is unable to dispute any longer.

In another column will be seen the departure of one of our editors for Carlotenea, Goya, and the other cotton plantations of the Republic. We wish him a safe and pleasant journey, and hope he will find considerable advances in this new industry.

We understand that the combat between Flores and Medina is not to come off so soon as expected. The revolutionary committee are busily purchasing pike-handles: 1800 were to be shipped yesterday, so that the rebel army will probably await these supplies.

The second day's races at Chivilcoy come off to-day: we believe it is entirely an Argentine affair, and there are no foreign racers. In some parties of the North, however, our countrymen keep alive this national amusement.

The American gentleman, who fell through the hole in the mole, is getting better, having luckily escaped without fracturing his thigh bone. A Frenchman broke his leg last week, and we anticipate other casualties, if the evil be not at once remedied.

Our camp friends are very anxious about Kirby's and Flower's cases. In the former, there is no doubt whatever about the identity of the assassin of our countrymen, yet he is not punished: in the latter an innocent man is confined in a dungeon for killing a gauche in self-defence.

We have to acknowledge the receipt of $74— odd, contributed by the Irish farmers of San Antonio de Areco, to reward the captor of Kirby's murderer: the trustees of the fund will please send to this office for the sum.

HUE AND CRY.

Charles Keens, the murderer of poor Farrell, has been seen in the vicinity of San Antonio de Areco: it becomes our countrymen to rope out this fellow by hauling him over to justice. There is a reward of $2500 for his apprehension.

Visit to the Cotton-fields of La Rioja.

It is necessary to convince the Argentines that you are in earnest about any enterprise, and then they become ready converts. The silver-mines of San Juan lay neglected until Major Richard started for Europe to purchase machinery, &c. In like manner Cotton has looked upon as a dream, until we imported tons of seed and patent Nascanney gins. At present there are thousands of acres under cultivation, and we have every indication of a grand beginning. To stimulate this industry by exhibiting the interest we take in it, and by the advertisement of a visit to the cotton-fields of Corrientes and Entre-Rios.

Being furnished with letters to H. E. Governor Laspiur and several other cotton growers, I left the city for Concepcion, and after a pleasant journey of 24 hours arrived at the same time he takes two days of send and a proof of treats for distribution, and we fully confide that the mission will give fresh impetus to the enterprise. And here we must thank the generosity of Don Pedro Frias who refused to take payment for my passage when he learned the object of the journey. Cotton has indeed many friends among the Argentines. Every steamboats come down laden with fleecy bales, the names of the early patrons of this industry will be gratefully remembered.

The travelling editor will send detailed account of everything from the various localities, and will be known as Absent Friend, but touching his special mission, and the price of land, nature of agriculture, physical aspects, &c.

LATEST FROM MONTEVIDEO

The 'Libertad' arrived yesterday morning, bringing the startling news that Lamas had been defeated by Flores. We can hardly credit, however, this news, as we were informed the other day that Lamas had incorporated his men with Flores, and such be the case, it is clear that the morning's report is without foundation. The probabilities are that Flores, imitating Alexander's tactics, has marched on Montevideo, hoping to take the city by surprise before Medina could come up. If Medina has only a little courage now, he can at one stroke crush Flores and his followers, by marching right down on him, cutting his line of retreat, the garrison in Montevideo attacks him in the front. A good general would not let the present opportunity pass, but we doubt if Medina is the man for Galtway.

When Flores approached Montevideo, with Moreno in his rear, the same tactics were suffered, and Moreno treating Flores as he did Flores escaped to the Brazilian frontier.

It is said that the Montevidean Government has der patched two steamers to Maldonado, w hich the Flores party here interpret into a convincing proof of a 'decrota.'

The fortifica ions are being completed in Montevideo. They are now made of stone, and unless some mediation is made, the siege of Troy, we fear, is to the approaching siege of Montevideo.

LATEST FROM THE INTERIOR

The Tucuman arrived yesterday from Rosario bringing glorious news. The deputies had all arrived safely, but our reporter states that they looked very sickly on getting out. The President of the Cocktail Club, with the Secretary and Treasurer, met them as they stepped on the gang-plank, and lovingly, even whiskey was offered to the desponding legislators—chiming as once very popular negro melody, the President of the cocktail led the way to the club room where for a while the sorrows of the past and the dangers of the future were forgotten. The cocktails were most boisterous, parts clearly as they had received per Paron the two cases of Martell's best, which the "Standard" had been fined.

Rosario is at present very hot, business dull, money scarce, the only thing abounding in the place being politics and drink.

A most important article belonging to the talented editor of the Ferro-carril, consisting of the present size of the provinces has been purloined from the office of that paper, and by some misfortune found its way down to the Northern Argentine, office in Rosario. The editor of the Ferro carril fears lest the other paper will publish the lost manuscript, and would be quite glad if it appears in the columns of the Nacional to see it, as it does not belong to that paper.

Brigadier General Don Estevan Pedernera has just arrived in Rosario from Lima This old officer was a distinguished soldier in the war of independence.

General Roja is in Catamarca, where, according to the Ferro carril, the most scandalous atrocities are being committed.

The post-master is still in hot water about the loss of papers, letters, &c. An Englishman, Mr. Le Bas, is reported to having lost through the Rosario post some important papers. Some of our subscribers also complain about the irregularity of the post. Particularly about the Illustrated London News, which never almost gets to hand. The judge is not taking nice case evidences, but has not yet given his judgment.

DEFEAT OF THE CHACHO,

THE VERY LATEST.

Per Pavon yesterday we learn the last diligence from Cordova brought the following gratifying intelligence:

The 'Ferro-carril' says—" From a letter which we have just received from a respectable party in the town of San Pedro, we extract the following important news:

"Villa San Pedro, Nov. 8, 1863.

"Last night, about eight o'clock, the 'Boletin Official' arrived from St. Luis, in which it is stated that Colonel Arredondo completely routed the forces of Pinchegure. It is thought that Gabriel Ontiveros, Sells, and Colonels have been killed in the encounter.'

MR. PIBBLE'S LETTER.

The following interesting letter from Mr. T. R. Pibble, Argentine Consul, to the Minister, arrived per last packet. We could wish that the other Argentine Consuls abroad imitated Mr. Pibble' example, and so some useful statistical information from their respective countries.

Liverpool, Oct. 8th, 1863.

Your Excellency,

The third quarter of the present year has terminated, and, according to your instructions, I proceed to give you a review thereof.

Notwithstanding the furious and disastrous civil war in North America, which unfortunately causes the greatest loss of life and property that makes the heart faint to think of, and which in a measure paralyzes commerce and trade universally on account of the great scarcity of cotton, the exports from the Liverpool Custom House Ayres show 4 vessels, or an increase of 14 (fourteen 2 national ships), during the 9 months of the present year compared with the corresponding period of last year, having included in the estimate for this year 2 steamers calling at Montevideo, and 1 from that place in 1862, 3 sailing vessels for the same route. The party goods are as follows:—

EXPORTS.

Sept. 30, 1863—Sail, 44; coal 114; sundries and general cargo, 87; total, 12 vessels.

Sept. 30, 1863—Sail, 11; coal, 6; sundries and general cargo, 15; total 28 barques.

It is worthy of observation that during the nine months ending the number of passengers registered amounted to 311, whilst, with the advantages of four steamers which left this port during this year, only amount 2-4 passengers, or a diminution of 57 persons: nevertheless it is remarkable that up to today there is a great increase in favour of this year, although, for motives explained in my review of the 18th of January last, and the great liberality of the Government in abolishing passports, parties have not to call at this office.

The result of the sales of salt from Liverpool in the River Plate, offers an inducement to continue the business. Cadiz salt having the preference amongst the saleduistas, and being cheaper at first cost.

The statistical review of the exports of the United Kingdom, according to the latest publication, that is to say the seven months ending 31st July shows the following result:—

In 1863—The value of exports in the 7 months to the Argentine Republic amounted to £725,698

In 1862—Ditto, for corresponding period 463,770

Excess in favor of this year £ 61,928

The Import statistical review for the six months of the present year shows also a favourable result for the increasing commerce, between the Argentine republic and Great Britain.

In 18 3—The value of Argentine imports for the first six months amounted to £419,97

In 1862—Do. do. 385,6 6

Excess this year £30,160

Respecting the exports from here in future the probabilities are, that for a certain time they will diminish as regards the Argentine Republic, at least as far as regards coal, iron, and other such articles, in consequence of the new ocean-house line which imposes a duty of 8/ per ton, which has lately come into operation, it being probable that all these articles will now be sent to Montevideo, which will increase the trade of that republic.

The value of raw cotton is still increasing to most fabulous prices. The total cotton used during the first six months of the year 1862 was 322,590 bales, and in the corresponding months this year 192, 2—a diminution this year of 130,328 bales, and this notwithstanding the increased growth in India and other countries—the demand for cotton goods is still increasing. I long with all my heart and soul that the efforts already made for the production of this article of inestimable benefit to the Argentine Republic, will be successful.

The produce of the country has not bettered in prices, with the exception of tallow, which lately has experienced a considerable rise of about 4s. 6d. per 112lb. This is attributed to the present critical position of Europe; nevertheless, the stock on hand of Plate is but tallow is 5100 pipes, or 3,4 0 less than the previous year.

The stock of salted cow hides up to the 31st ult. was 1,7,082, whilst during the same period last year the stock was 31,156, which shows an increase of 38,,06 hides in the present year. There is a great scarcity in the market, except for 'cows,' and to realize any large sales holders must give way. These observations are equally applicable to salted horse Hides, the stock of which is 21,338.

Operations in wool have lately been very active, with good demand and advancing prices for all classes, save those of Buenos Ayres and the Banda Orien. tal (not only on account of the ahojo and conveyance, but those of Cordova and the interior provinces are in good demand, and have a preference in our markets. Of one thing there is no doubt, that sheep have been refined to that pitch that the wool has not the reputation which more ordinary classes employ, but which has a staple and longer, stronger, and sounder. Interested as I am in the welfare of the Argentine country, and having a taste since my boyhood for the breeding of sheep and mule, I have laboured for years to learn by what means the wools of the Argentine Republic can be improved in our markets, and I repeat to you with confidence what I have previously urged in my former reviews, furthermore observing that the continued introduction of magnificent rams and sheep, of the Rambouillet and Negretta breeds accompanied with care and artificial feeding, instead of increasing the size of the flocks, rather lessens their value in consequence of the delicacy of the animal, and the fact that last nine months there have been introduced one hundred and fifty-four pure bred rams and sheep.

Respecting the introduction of jerked beef in our markets, I regret to say that owing to the pettiness of one of the agents, who wished to drive up prices for his own profit, the demand has calmed; nevertheless, I hope that by degrees it will ultimately become in greater demand.

The Liverpool Steam Company has begun badly, since it has failed to fulfil its promise to despatch each month a steamer. The 'Chile,' a steamer belonging to the Pacific line, will leave here on the 15th inst., taking a mail to the River Plate. Since my last only one ship, the 'Delta,' has been despatched from here for Buenos Ayres, with general cargo. There are now six ships loading for B.A. and two for Montevideo.

It affords the undersigned the greatest pleasure to remark that each day greater and greater attention is being paid to the important advantages which the Argentine soil offers to capitalists and labourers.

We regret that for want of space we have been obliged to abbreviate this most important letter, but we shall recur to the subject again shortly, and give Mr. Pibble's views on sheep-farming in full.

A TRIP TO THE RIVER.

My afflicting and rather disastrous visit to San Isidro, on the feast of St Martin, which you were kind enough to publish, has caused me to regard with suspicion every one who looks at me in the street. I do assure you, Mr. Standard, that for days and days I felt like one hunted down by a set of detectives. There was no mistaking the steadfast gaze which was cast at me—the way countenances of the passers-by seemed to say, "There goes the 'Vicissitudes Excursionist.'" Indignant that I should be under such hateful 'surveillance,' caused by my own indiscretion, I hurried home the other day to my rather brazen landlady, to order her of my determination to leave a city two thirds of whose citizens seemed to cast a malicious eye on me. Arrived, however, conceived from my hostess my weakness as a scribbler, in order that I might, if possible, discover from the struggling mass of humanity who had rented me her rooms the real cause of my misfortunes. What was my surprise when I learned from those around that I was not in a city where 'the apparel oft bespeaks the man,' my swallow tail coat had been the cause of such peculiar attention I admit I felt annoyed at the idea that my antiquated upper garment should cause such attention, but, congratulating myself that I was unknown as an author in the metropolis, I altered my resolve and remained ever since at my lodgings. Since last Wednesday week I have not attempted an excursion. I have set myself to work to examine the city and its inhabitants. I began with the beach and the washerwomen. There I found myself annoyed at times by those who will ridicule my soapy beginning, or 'suddy' predilections; but, as I purpose leaving nothing unseen in Buenos Ayres, I must not be anxious to avoid the errors of Mr. Hinchliff, who in his attempts to describe the business community of Buenos Ayres, seems to have ignored the fact that one of the merchant existed in this city, I am determined to be prolix—not that I would wish the readers of your justly popular paper to suppose for a moment that I appertained to the region of pork and beans, or buckwheat; far from it. No Standard, you are not yet known to dine on his country, and Heaven forbid that I should be the first. But having invested 130 paper dollars in what I considered a true and faithful description of Buenos Ayres, I confess I was rather annoyed to perceive that a gentleman who could treat his readers to such a graphic description of Frenchcowskis, antiquated Scotch Indies, gentlemanly shipbrokers and popular Custom-houses, should be so negligent in his observations when describing foreign merchants, as to omit the Americans. However, I am not now going to criticise the work which I believe by many is regarded as interesting; I merely wish to convey to you, Mr. Standard, that I began with the washerwomen, because I believe them the fundamental basis of society.

What, may I ask, is the reputation of a man or country, though he be a merchant, if he consumes his domestic peaceness, by wearing a shirt for three weeks Is he not regarded with scorn in the mean time, and talked of even in the public streets. The washerwoman is one of the most useful members of society in Buenos Ayres, and the most genteel profession. I sauntered down to the river side the other day for this purpose, and entered into conversation immediately with a perspiring laundress, inquired the number of washerwomen in the city, and their average gains. There is considerable gentility in the washerwoman took me to be insane, and had she known of my San Isidro trip, possibly she might have had good reason for it. She evidently desired to cultivate my acquaintance, and therefore gave me a direct answer. Seven hundred dollars' clear earnings, 30 dollars per day. She inquired into the motives of my visit, and remarked on the great vicissitudes of life in Buenos Ayres, 'Que quiere usted, Caballero,' was my answer, when she informed me that amongst the washerwomen of Buenos Ayres, there were widows of the greatest wealth, possessing many husbands in former years held rank and station in the Argentine army. I immediately saw the grassy knoll of the Plata, until I found myself approaching the gas house. I remarked that the women wash in native-made 'tubs' and holes, and while reflecting on the female ingenuity of many of those relics of military glory, I incautiously slipped from a precipitous bank, and at once became submerged in the soapy waters of the river. Since I put my foot on Argentine soil, I have, by some fatality, been the victim of every description of accident. I now found myself expectorating soapsuds, and unable to extricate myself from this horrible position, but thanks to the assiduous of the washerwomen who crowded round me, I was fished out. I rushed to my lodgings dripping and muddy, and have not since stirred out. Whether it is that persons from my part of Ireland are peculiarly unfortunate or not, I cannot take on me to say, but I have suffered so much in my pursuit after recreation and knowledge, that I beg you will publish this washing calamity, in order that people may profit by the experience of a

"VICTIMISED KERRYMAN."

BARON MAUÁ.

Buenos Ayres, Nov. 21, 1863.

Mr. Editor,

The article published in your valuable paper of this day, entitled 'Combat of Flores and Medina,' ends by an assertion, which I cannot allow to pass unnoticed, viz.:—"In case Flores assumes power, the chance of Baron de Mauá getting paid is but small."

Allow me to observe that, even in the event of the triumph of the element under arms in the Oriental Republic, which I consider utterly impossible, the holders of the 6 per cent. stock issued in virtue of a lawful contract, made under authority, by the executive power of the Republic, sanctioned unanimously by both Chambers representing its legislative power, have as safe an investment for their capital as if they were the holders of the stock of any other nation. The Republic is a constituted nationality, its economical conditions are second to none relatively to the changes which may occur in its administration; cannot in any way affect existing lawful contracts. If any governmental attempts to do so, they will be first an appeal to the legislative powers; secondly, to the judicial power of the state, which must protect the rights of all the inhabitants of a civilised country against any attempt of the kind; and if all these were to fail, which, knowing the honourable feelings which govern the proceedings of the Oriental nation, I again consider an utter impossibility, the point would be revived it, when a 'dolo la petitori' would entitle the holders of the stock to seek redress elsewhere. I repeat, that no such fears need be entertained by any holder of the stock. The writer's about Oriental affairs in Buenos Ayres, when they consider that a government can be found there, which will not claim the validity of existing lawful contracts, act on their own account, without the sanction of any man, who can ever be called upon to preside in that country; and this confirms my conviction, that the preachers in this city of revolution, and of the shedding of blood in the Banda Oriental, have no authority to raise their voices in the name of the colorado, or of any respectable political party (but certainly not offsprings of free institutions) which can aspire to get into power in a civilised nation.

IMPORTANT TESTIMONIAL.

The Mauá Bank at Rosario.

The undersigned merchants and residents of the city of Rosario, Santa Fe, hereby declare:

That the Bank of Mauá and Co. here established since 1857, has carried on banking principles up to the present date. That its paper currency has been always received with complete confidence in all mercantile transactions and with the public of this city. That up to the present no single instance has occured of refusing to pay the amount of any notes presented for discharge.

And the above being of public notoriety, we make the present declaration, signed in Rosario, Santa Fe.

CARDINAL WISEMAN ON SELF-CULTURE.

(The Times Sept. 17.)

And so, with respect to the mind, lectures, and conversazioni, and public libraries and museums were all ends to education. But the true, the real education was that which was performed within, and which none but the individual himself could perform for himself. Self culture might be divided into three distinct ranges or spheres, and to be applied—first, to the intellectual powers; secondly, to the power of acquisition—the power of aggregating what is without our minds; and thirdly, to the cultivation of moral powers. These three powers were distinct. The first—the cultivation of the intellectual powers—had little or no aid without. That was a work from within. Each man must cultivate his own intellect, his power of judgment, his power of seeing through the operation upon the appearances of things, his power of acquisition was of a mixed character. It was the power of bringing into our minds and under the judgment of the intellect that which was prepared by others, and which we did not ourselves make, and which was not within us. That was a work partly from and partly without. It was there without ourselves; so that one is purely inward, the second is partly exterior through its objects; the third is purely exterior through its aims. Beginning with the intellectual powers, they were subject to a triple subdivision. There was, first, the power of thought, and what immediately preceded thought, and then came the imagination and the memory. Upon the two latter points his remarks would be very brief indeed. As to the principle which he was about to lay down were embodied in the first point, on which he wished fully to open his mind. It would, however, be well to add many practical definitions or explanations of the power of thought, believing that he could make his meaning more clear by illustration and by definition, but he would take the sense of sight as the one parallel to thought in the mind, and therefore, by comparison, the eye was never satisfied, never satisfied with merely looking at anything with the intellectual powers, they were subject to a triple subdivision. There was, first, the power of thought, and what immediately preceded thought

ENGLISH GRAMMAR SCHOOL,
CALLE LARGA DE BARRACAS.
Doc—Mr. Pongerard, of the London University College.

This Establishment, which from its foundation has been patronized by the principal British families of Buenos Ayres, is an exact reproduction of an English School, where a sound commercial education is combined with the acquisition of the French and Spanish languages is imparted to the pupils, and based upon the same system as in all first class European institutions of the kind.

An ever-watchful and constant supervision, and a strict maintenance of order and propriety, are a sufficient guarantee that the morals and behaviour of the pupils are carefully attended to.

The different branches taught in the English Grammar School comprise the English, French and Spanish languages, History, Geography, Arithmetic, and Book-keeping in all its parts, Writing, and Religious Instruction.

Extra branches, such as Latin, Mathematics, Gymnast, Music and Drawing, are also taught by special masters.

The situation of the English Grammar School, in one of the most delightful Quintas of the Calle Larga de Barracas, at the very gate of the city, is one of the most healthful and picturesque of the environs of Buenos Ayres.

The want has long been felt of an establishment wherein the frugal and laborious class might deposit his savings, so as to insure no risk, and reap at the same time a good return.

This institution is calculated to answer such a purpose extending the benefits of the establishment to even the humblest classes.

Public attention is, therefore, especially called to the manner of subscriptions, and the investm ent of funds, according to the rules of the association.

The Previsora Argentina will receive subscriptions as follows:

1st. On such sum as Rs. 5 shows at 25 silver each. These subscriptions liquidated at any time, at the subscriber's time and option.

2nd. Without loss of capital by death of the insurer. Subscribers will be entitled to compound interest on their subscriptions and on the proportional interest forfeited by the death of other shareholders in their Class, whose capital, however is preserved.

3rd. With loss of capital and interest by insurer's death All shareholders of this class shall gain compound interest on their subscriptions, besides a proportional part of the capital and interest of all who die in their Class.

All these subscriptions may be paid weekly, monthly, quarterly, half yearly, or yearly.

The capital of the Co. shall be invested only in landed property (finca), and with the greatest security.

The Board of Inspection, composed of Subscribers, shall have charge of all the operations of the Co.

For further particulars, apply at the Co's office 87 calle S. Martin [altos] between the hours of 11 — 4 ; prospectuses given on application. n17

SAVINGS BANK.
BANK MAUA & C°
— No. 103 calle de Cangallo. —
BUENOS-AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt, and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the Bank in which they place the most confidence

The Bank of Mauá & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city, a safe & profitable depository for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, working-men & servants of all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities

The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city following the example of their firm in Montevideo now offer the same facilities in this city and will open on the 1st October a "Savings Bank" at No. 103 calle Cangallo from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. on week days, and on Sundays and holidays from 10 a. m. to 12 m. for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a Pass Book in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited, in the former ; case the interest will be calculated up to date,

The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations for it to require to be enlarged on the strictest and soundest principles and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.

Buenos Ayres September 19th 1803.

p. m. Mauá & Co.
WILLIAM LESLIE.

CONDITIONS.

1st. The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty five dollars currency to one after a other upwards.

2nd. The interest allowed is six per cent [0 $] per annum which is liquidated every six months

3rd. The depositor can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.

4th. Once the amount deposited exceeds Twenty five thousand dollars currency or one thousand dollars silver the depositor if he wishes can open an account current accruing to the 10 on as established by the Bank.

5th. In case the depositor loses his Pass Book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.
